REMINDER

Hogs carry a number of diseases of which hunters and consumers of hog meat should be aware. Visit eglin.iSportsman.net and click on the "Hunting" tab to access brochures outlining risks and preventative measures when hunting and processing wild hogs.

All individual hunters or hunting parties (even if unsuccessful) are required to complete the Harvest Record on the back of these guidelines and return to the Natural Resources Office (NRO) by COB on the Wednesday following the hunt. Failure to turn in a Harvest Record may result in your hog hunting privilege being suspended next year. If you did not harvest a hog indicate a zero on those days you were unsuccessful. If you did not hunt all days, please indicate that on the harvest record as well. One individual hunter may turn in a Harvest Record on behalf of a hunting party/group, but must clearly note the other hunting party members on the Harvest Record.
